STATEMENT OF CASE

On November 7 as of prior and continuing in 2004, Plaintiff has made request for religious materials, (Quran) access to religious services, Access to Law Library and utility necessary for filing complaint and drafting pleading in (this) court case, and other motions, denied. Now, Plaintiff has filed (Amended Request Terms) of which have gone unanswered, and 42 USC § 1983 Civil Rights Complaint

none have been provided, or answered

Further, the Sanitary Conditions within the dorm of K-Block at the Central Virginia Regional Jail are none reflective of proper care in sanitation, showers, sinks, toilets facilities are not in compliance with "Standard Health Codes"; and often the temperatures within K-Block dorm is freezing (Below - Standards).

Open requests by plaintiff for medical care, not forthcoming; and more clearly seen are clothing issues of which, when provided, towels have holes, (moth-eaten) no underwear (shorts) provided and jail jumpsuits are torn with holes in legs and backs of clothing, more profound is where plaintiff is required to forgo his blanket from the hours of 7:00 am - 5:00 pm (M-F) Monday - Friday. The while the Air-Condition System is high-on; none compliant with health codes, and result in colds or sickness.

Further, no protective wear (Jackets, Raincoats) are provided inmates when being transported in inclement weather by Central Virginia Regional Jail, et al., And Security is absent walking security patrols through dorms to prevent injuries.

Wherefore plaintiff request this Court Order the defendant, Central Virginia Regional Jail to provide access to religious (books), religious services, Law Library (time), and materials necessary to complete each thereof, respond to inmate requests and construct an "conflict free" grievance system, improve the sanitary condition of K-Block, and others similarly situated, conforming to Standard Health Codes, reduce freezing temperatures in (K-) dorms, provide medical care timely, and upon request, issue clothing free of damage, provide protective wear (Jackets, Rain Coats) to inmates during inclement weather, and provide security patrols through dorm(s) to prevent injuries.

Further, plaintiff requests the Court grant the amount of $ 100,000.00 dollars for each day the defendant fails to comply with issues complained of herein, and too protect plaintiff from future harm.

I declare under penalty of perjury that the above is true and correct to the best of my knowledge.
